

EiE'S 2021 IMPACT IN NUMBERS

For over a decade, Enough is Enough Nigeria (EiE) has remained true to its objective of raising a generation of active citizens willing to put in the work required to chart the course for a new Nigeria that thrives on the fundamentals of justice, accountability and equity.

From educating citizens extensively, using mainstream and new media/digital tools; creating initiatives to bring the government at all levels closer to the people; and developing compelling infographics & articles on topical issues, EiE has continually steered critical campaigns and conversations on national and continental platforms towards redefining the Nigerian narrative.

In 2021, we continued on our mission to create lasting change and this infographic tells the story of our impact in 2021 with data.

- * 1. In the wake of the unconstitutional #TwitterBan, EiE joined Tunde Onifade to file a petition against Lekki Concession Company (LCC) at the Lagos State Judicial Panel of Inquiry on Police Brutality for the company's alleged involvement as an accessory to the #LekkiTollKillings. Sequel to the reopening of the Toll Gate without the petition being heard, EiE and Tunde Onifade filed an originating summons asking the court not to reopen the Toll Gate as opening it will presume the case has been heard.
2. EiE, Paradigm Initiative (PIN) & Media Rights Agenda (MRA) also filed a lawsuit against MTN, Airtel, Globacom and 9mobile for the court to declare the blockage of Twitter access as unlawful. We also seek an injunction restraining the telecommunication companies from blocking Twitter and any other social media platform.
